

Animating the Message to Engage Viewers

The Animated Benefits and Work Video Series is Here!

Griffin-Hammis Associates is pleased to offer ten animated videos highlighting the economic advantages of public benefits and work. Each brief video delivers accurate, empowering information about public benefits and work in a clear, simple, and engaging manner.

Designed specifically for individuals with disabilities, the videos offer an accessible format for anyone seeking to learn about public benefits and work, including family members, educators, vocational counselors, and service providers.

Post them on websites, use them to debunk common myths and fears, or play them during presentations to teach the basics of work incentives... the possibilities are endless!
